Policy: To ensure the accuracy of the company's bank account records by proving the monthly balance shown in the bank's Account Register.

Purpose: To outline the practices for preparation of a Monthly Bank Reconciliation

Scope: This applies to all bank accounts maintained by the company.

Responsibilities:

The Chief Financial Officer (CFO) is responsible for review and approval of all reconciliations.

The Controller is responsible for reconciling all checking accounts.

Background: Errors or omissions can be made to the company's bank account records due to the many cash transactions that occur. Therefore, it is necessary to prove the monthly balance shown in the bank account register. Cash on deposit with a bank is not available for count and is therefore proved through the preparation of a reconciliation of the company's record of cash in the bank and the bank's record of the company's cash that is on deposit.

Definitions: Batch – All of the day's credit card transactions are collected into a "batch" of transactions. The batch is closed, usually at the end of the day, and the result is submitted to the merchant processor as a single "batch".

Settlement – The processor clears the credit card transactions in the batch and the result is "settled" to the designated bank account. Settlement varies by Credit Card Company but usually occurs in 2-3 days after a batch is closed.

Standards for Internal Control in the Federal Government United States Government Accountability Office, 2019-03-24

Policymakers and program managers are continually seeking ways to improve accountability in achieving an entity's mission. A key factor in improving accountability in achieving an entity's mission is to implement an effective internal control system. An effective internal control system helps an entity adapt to shifting environments, evolving demands, changing risks, and new priorities. As programs change and entities strive to improve operational processes and implement new technology, management continually evaluates its internal control system so that it is effective and updated when necessary.

Section 3512 c and d of Title 31 of the United States Code, commonly known as the Federal Managers Financial Integrity Act (FMFIA), requires the Comptroller General to issue standards for internal control in the federal government.

The Accounting Procedures Guidebook Steven M Bragg, 2018-07-11

The typical business needs a system of policies and procedures in order to reduce errors, minimize fraud, and maintain tight control over its operations. The Accounting Procedures Guidebook contains the detailed procedures and forms needed for every accounting system, from accounts payable to treasury, as well as for such operational areas as order entry, shipping, purchasing, and receiving. Procedures are separately stated for manual and computerized accounting systems. The book also addresses how to create and enforce procedures, as well as when to update them. In short, this book provides the baseline policy and procedure information needed to enhance the operations of any business.
