A Dictionary of Chinese Buddhist Terms ,2003-12-18 This invaluable interpretive tool first published in 1937 is now available for the first time in a paperback edition specially aimed at students of Chinese Buddhism Those who have endeavoured to read Chinese texts apart from the apprehension of a Sanskrit background have generally made a fallacious interpretation for the Buddhist canon is basically translation or analogous to translation In consequence a large number of terms existing are employed approximately to connote imported ideas as the various Chinese translators understood those ideas Various translators invented different terms and even when the same term was finally adopted its connotation varied sometimes widely from the Chinese term of phrase as normally used by the Chinese For instance kl sa undoubtedly has a meaning in Sanskrit similar to that of i e affliction distress trouble In Buddhism affliction or as it may be understood from Chinese the afflictors distressers troublers means passions and illusions and consequently fan nao in Buddhist phraseology has acquired this technical connotation of the passions and illusions Many terms of a similar character are noted in the body of this work. Consequent partly on this use of ordinary terms even a well educated Chinese without a knowledge of the technical equivalents finds himself unable to understand their implications.

Kumba Africa Sampson Ejike Odum, 2020-11-03. KUMBA AFRICA is a compilation of African Short Stories written as fiction by Sampson Ejike Odum, nostalgically taking our memory back several thousands of years ago in Africa, reminding us about our past heritage. It digs deep into the traditional life style of the Africans of old: their beliefs, their leadership, their courage, their culture, their wars, their defeat and their victories long before the emergence of the white man on the soil of Africa. As a talented writer of rich resource and superior creativity, armed with in depth knowledge of different cultures and traditions in Africa, the Author throws light on the rich cultural heritage of the people of Africa when civilization was yet unknown to the people. The book reminds the readers that the Africans of old kept their pride and still enjoyed their own lives. They celebrated victories when wars were won, enjoyed their New Yam festivals and villages engaged themselves in seasonal wrestling contests etc. Early morning during Harmattan season they gathered firewood and made fire inside their small huts to heat up their bodies from the chilling cold of the Harmattan. That was the Africa of old we will always remember. In Africa today the story has changed. The people now enjoy civilized cultures made possible by the influence of the white man through his scientific and technological process. Yet there are some uncivilized places in Africa whose people haven't tested or felt the impact of civilization. These people still maintain their ancient traditions and culture. In everything we believe that days when people paraded barefooted in Africa to the swamp to tap palm wine and fetch firewood from their farms are almost fading away.

The huts are now gradually been replaced with houses built of blocks and beautiful roofs Thanks to modern civilization Donkeys and camels are no longer used for carrying heavy loads for merchants They are now been replaced by heavy trucks and lorries African traditional methods of healing are now been substituted by hospitals In all these I will always love and remember Africa the home of my birth and must respect her cultures and traditions as an AFRICAN AUTHOR
