climate change on different countries has led to the development and ratification of the Framework Convention on Climate Change FCCC and has a strong bearing on the future sustainable development of developing countries and countries with economies in transition The preparation of analytical methodologies and tools for carrying out assessments of vulnerability and adaptation to climate change is therefore of prime importance to these countries Such assessments are needed to both fulfill the reporting requirements of the countries under the FCCC as well as to prepare their own climate change adaptation and mitigation plans The vulnerability and adaptation assessment guidelines prepared by the U S Country Studies Program bring together all the latest knowledge and experience from around the world on both vulnerability analysis as well as adaptation methodologies It is currently being applied successfully by scientists in over fifty countries from all the regions of the globe This guidance is being published to share it with the wider scientific community interested in global climate change issues This guidance document has two primary purposes To assist countries in making decisions about the scope and methods for their vulnerability and adaptation assessments To provide countries with guidance and step by step instructions on each of the basic elements of vulnerability and adaptation assessments

Peninsula Watershed Historical Ecology Study Sean Baumgarten, 2021-07

The Peninsula Watershed has been integral to the story of San Francisco s growth ever since the Gold Rush The rapid influx of settlers to San Francisco during the Gold Rush spurred a sudden demand for a reliable water source which led to the formation of the Spring Valley Water Works later purchased by the Spring Valley Water Company SVWC in 1858 Hanson 2005 Over the subsequent 70 years SVWC bought up large swaths of land on the Peninsula and constructed a complex system of dams tunnels and pipes to capture and transport water to San Francisco Within the Peninsula Watershed this system includes the Crystal Springs and San Andreas reservoirs located in the San Andreas Creek Laguna Creek and Upper San Mateo Creek basins along the San Andreas Fau The City of San Francisco purchased SVWC in 1930 and today the Peninsula Watershed managed by the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission SFPUC continues to be a key source of water for San Francisco and for other communities in the South and East Bay Despite the past 150 years of reservoir construction and other hydrologic modifications the construction of transportation and utility corridors and the large scale suburban development that has occurred to the east the Peninsula Watershed has remained largely undeveloped and is managed to protect water quality water supply wildlife habitat and a range of other natural and cultural resources The watershed supports some of the largest intact remnants of contiguous habitat in the region including extensive oak woodlands old growth Douglas fir forests serpentine grasslands chaparral and coastal scrub Over the past 250 years since Spanish explorers first set foot on the watershed however changes in disturbance regimes and other large scale anthropogenic modifications including fire suppression homesteading livestock grazing agriculture tree planting introduction of plant pathogens spread of invasive species and climate change have altered vegetation dynamics and changed the distribution and structure of vegetation communities throughout the watershed The changes have raised many questions about the historical ecology of the watershed What was the extent distribution and composition of terrestrial riparian and wetland habitats prior to Euro American modification How have vegetation distributions changed over the past two centuries and what are the implications of those changes for species support Are there remnant patches of relatively unmodified habitat present in the watershed or areas that are currently in a state of recovery Where are current habitat characteristics most similar to or different from historically documented conditions How have key natural and anthropogenic disturbance regimes and processes changed over time The Peninsula Watershed Historical Ecology Study aims to advance understanding of landscape conditions of the Peninsula Watershed prior to major Euro American modification and to provide insights into the nature and drivers of vegetation change since the first Spanish explorers set foot in the watershed 250 years ago The primary goal of the research was to examine the historical extent distribution and composition of terrestrial vegetation types and their trajectories of change within the watershed To the extent possible research also addressed historical riparian wetland and estuarine habitats hydrology and sediment dynamics wildlife support land use history and a range of other topics
